ROMANTIC OLD FOLKS.

The Sly Sunday Sleigh Ride of Bachelor Bush and the Widow Lockwood.

From the New York Sun.

In the Catskills near Kingston, N. Y., there has just occurred an interesting incident in which figure two worthy aged residents of Ulster county. For a year past Nash Bush, aged 75 years, has been very attentive to Mrs. Elizabeth Lockwood, aged 65. He is a bachelor, the possessor of a valuable farm and a neat bank account. She is a widow also comfortably provided for. Mrs. Lockwood has made her home with a son whose opposition to the suit of Mr. Bush has been strenuous.

Mrs. Lockwood, who has a will of her own, has never listened with good grace to the words of her son. To his argument her usual answer was: "My heart is my own, and I guess I know how to conduct myself without coming to my child for advice. Now, I don't say I love Nash Bush, but I do say that if I did love him and wanted to marry him, I would do it without any palaver."

Chief among the reasons her son urged against the anticipated marriage was the fact of excessive age. It was also his custom to refer occasionally to the somewhat different physique of the aged lovers. Bachelor Bush in his three-fourths of a century of life has acquired obesity, turning the scales at just 220 pounds; while the widow Lockwood is a frail, withered little woman, weighing less than a hundred. A fortnight ago William D. Lockwood, the son, grew angry and ordered Mr. Bush from the house. Mr. Bush did as directed, and Mr. Lockwood congratulated himself that finally he was free from the prospect of a stepfather.

On Sunday morning last, the widow had a hired man harness up a sleigh for the avowed purpose of taking her to church. She had not been long gone when her son chanced upon an envelope addressed to her. That envelope contained a letter from Nash Bush, that had evidently been written in reply to one from Mrs. Lockwood. The writer of the letter implored his "heart's idol" to go on Sunday morning to a certain point on the public highway, where he would meet her, and in his sleigh from thence they would descend upon the dominion and be married. The billet closed with eleven original verses, of which the following is a sample:

I love you, Lizzie, very true;
I'm going to love you all my life;
My farm and everything what I have got I'm going to give to you,
When you do me my will.

Mr. Lockwood ran out of the house, jumped upon a horse and tore through the snow drifts. But he was behind time. "I pronounce you man and wife," said the preacher, just as the excited son hurried into the little country church, amazing the score or more of his worthy mountaineer neighbors who had remained after the sermon to see the marriage ceremony for which Bachelor Bush had arranged.

Discovering what had taken place, Mr. Lockwood said: "Well, I suppose there's no use crying over spilt milk; what's done can't be undone." "No, it can't be undone," triumphantly ejaculated the bride.

"That's so, my dear," said the ancient groom, extending his chubby hand in token of good will to his wife's son.

The trio dined at the son's home, and remained there till yesterday, when Mr. and Mrs. Bush started for the husband's home over the mountain. To-night they enjoy a "house warming," at which apples, cider and sweet cake will be liberally dispensed to a hundred or more guests. A bidder has been engaged, and the bride and groom are to lead the dance.

THE STATE OF NEVADA VERSUS DR. CLARK, OF STOCKTON.

In view of the large and constantly increasing number of insane persons supported at the expense of the State, the Legislature of Nevada two years ago passed "An Act Concerning the Insane," of which the preamble recognized: "The duty of the State at some time in the near future to provide for the care of its own insane at home." The first section of the act declares that "the State grounds at Reno are hereby selected as the site for an Insane Asylum, and such Insane Asylum is hereby located on said grounds." The second section of the act appropriated $5,000 for the improvement of the site of said location. Of the amount so appropriated the Commissioners for the Insane have expended for a water right, fencing and other improvements on the State grounds here, the sum of $3,929.46, not counting $765 expended for plans, specifications, etc., of an asylum building.

Thus two years ago the need of an asylum was recognized, the site chosen, and a preparatory appropriation made. The matter thus settled, it only remained for the present Legislature to make a further appropriation for the building of the asylum and the care of its inmates. But the surviving member of the firm of Langdon & Clark, of Stockton, who made a lucrative contract with the State, is unwilling to unloose his grip on our insane. The contract made with the firm four years ago allowed them $1 per day per patient. How good a thing this contract is may be gathered from the fact that it costs the State of California but 42 1/2 cents per day per patient to maintain her insane in the State asylum at Napa, and 41 1/2 cents in another State institution at Stockton. No wonder that Dr. Clark wants to renew the contract! Finding the Legislature disposed to carry out the settled policy of a State asylum, he has put in a diminished bid. He now offers to keep our insane for four years more at a cost of $5.50 per week for each patient. This is 78.47 cents per day, just 43.7 cents less than twice as much as it costs California to keep her patients at Stockton. Even at this reduced rate, the doctor would have a fat contract, such a contract, from a strictly business point of view, as would justify the expenditure of ten or twenty thousand dollars in the lobby at Carson. Now let us see what the State of Nevada can gain by providing for the care of her insane at home.

In examining this subject it must not be forgotten that there are considerations to be regarded fully as important as those of money. The unhappy victims of dementia have claims upon our tenderest charity. Few of our insane are so unfortunate as to be without relations or friends in the State. Therefore, it is most desirable that they be kept at a place within her borders; a place the most easy of access from all parts of the State. The visit of a relative or friend must sometimes be an inestimable benefit to a patient. The cost of a journey to Stockton and back is beyond the means of many persons who wish to see patients there, but they could gratify that wish if the patients were kept at a State institution here. No complaint is heard of the treatment of our insane in Dr. Clark's private establishment at Stockton, although, of course, it is to the interest of the proprietor to retain the patients fully as long as may be desirable for their mental health. Yet it is must be admitted that a home institution, conducted by the State, easily accessible to friends and relatives of patients and to the Commissioners, would have the confidence of our people to a greater extent than any money-making establishment located on the other side of the Sierra in the malarious swamps of Stockton. The State grounds on the banks of the Truckee have a most salubrious situation. This region is absolutely free from malaria, with an atmosphere of exceeding purity and a sky of brightness unsurpassed. The climatic conditions, of great importance in the # care of the insane, are far better here than at Stockton.

When the question of cost is considered, it is obvious that the State can support her insane in an asylum at home, cheaper than Dr. Clark offers to do it. The State grounds here consist of 200 acres of good farming land, pronounced by practical farmers to be of the best quality; equal in productive capacity to any in the valley. There is not an inch of it that cannot be put under cultivation. An asylum located thereon can be made largely self-supporting by the employment of its able-bodied male inmates in the cultivation of the soil. The grounds could be made to produce all the vegetables needed for the patients, and would furnish grazing for cows enough to keep the asylum abundantly supplied with milk, recommended by the best medical authority as the most beneficial food for the insane. The tillage of the soil and the care of the stock would furnish the patients exercise and diverting employment of a character to improve their mental, as well as their bodily, health. Now, leaving out of consideration the agricultural resources of the selected site, parties in this State who figured on a project to erect a private asylum here, made the following estimate of the cost of maintaining the State insane per head per week:

Food and Clothing.....	$3.50
Utilities.....	1.00
Medical.....	1.00
Miscellaneous.....	1.00
Total.....	$6.50

To this estimate add interest on $80,000, the amount of the appropriation asked for by the bill now before the Legislature. The interest is $100 a week, which, upon a basis of 150 patients, is 67 cents to each. Then we have $5.17 for each patient per week as the total cost of maintaining our insane at home, and this upon a liberal estimate, with a margin of fifty cents, and based upon the market price of meats, milk and vegetables. Whether the cost of milk figures as a large item in the accounts of Dr. Clark's establishment, we do not know, but presume that in furnishing his patients with this preferred food he is certain not to err on the side of too great abundance or too rich a quality. Feivility of the stomach caused by excessive indulgence in milk, is probably not the most troublesome physical ailment among them.

A great present expense which can be nearly done away with by the establishment of a State asylum, is the cost of transportation of patients. The following item appears in the last report of the Nevada Commissioners:

Paid on account of transportation of patients from this State to asylum, for the years 1879 and 1880—	$11,280.55
---	-------------

This enormous outlay for transportation, averaging $116.28 per head for the 97 patients sent to Stockton from this State in the last two years, brought up the average cost to Nevada, on each patient per day, from $1 to $1.14 1/2. This 14 1/2 cents per day, almost exactly $1 per week, is an additional expense which must be considered in looking at Dr. Clark's bid to keep our insane at $5.50 per head per week. It makes his bid really equivalent to $6.50. We have shown that the cost of maintaining the insane here at home should not exceed $5.17, making no allowance for transportation. The cost of transportation would make a comparatively small item in the case of an asylum here. Most of the patients come from the western portion of the State. Thus, of the 97 patients sent to Stockton in the last two years, 65 were from the counties of Washoe, Ormsby, Douglas, Storey and Humboldt.

In the face of facts and figures like these, should the Assembly fail to pass the Asylum bill which comes up tomorrow for a final vote, there will be but one reason assigned. It is notorious that there is a "sack" now open at Carson in the interest of Dr. Clark, of Stockton. Assemblymen who vote against a bill manifestly to the financial interest of the State and dear to State pride, will be exposed to the suspicion that their hands have been in the Stockton sack. The question is not one of local competition; of competition between counties to see which shall have the asylum. That is a small matter. The question is now narrowed down to a contest between the best interests and dignity of the State of Nevada, opposed to the scheming and "sack" of a Stockton doctor. We trust that there is sufficient pride and honesty in the Legislature to save our unfortunate insane from being farmed out in the fever and ague district of California for another four years.

Since the above was put in type a telegram from Carson informs us that Dr. Clark's bid is $7 per week. If this news is correct, the argument for a State Asylum is strengthened.

TRIAL OF CLANCEY'S MURDERER

The trial Clarence Gray, for the shooting of Theodore Glancey, was concluded in Santa Barbara on Saturday evening, and the case was given to the jury. Gray was a candidate for District Attorney last November, and was nominated by a party convention. The Press of Santa Barbara referred to the nomination of Gray as a disgrace to the party. Glancey was the editor of the paper, and wrote the article. His dying deposition averred that Gray shot him for having written the article, the responsibility of which he did not seek to disclaim. It has been well established by evidence that Glancey was unarmed and that he told Gray so; that Gray pursued him through the street, firing shots at him, and that Gray had notified Stearns, the proprietor of the paper, that a retraction of the article must take place before sundown or one of them would be in heaven.

Gray testified in his own behalf that the shooting was entirely accidental. He claims that he had the pistol in his hand expecting an attack from Glancey, and was ready to defend himself in case a violent attack was made, but that as Glancey returned through the side door of the entrance to the saloon in which he had taken refuge, his pistol accidentally went off. In rebuttal the prosecution introduced Judge Huse, who related a conversation in which Gray had told him that if he discovered the author of the article he would kill him. Glancey having avowed its authorship, the prosecution claim the threat was duly executed.

"There is scarcely any doubt that the Langdon & Clark sack will defeat all Asylum appropriations for this State."—Carson Appeal.
We shall see to-morrow.

JOTTINGS.

—Valentine's Day.
—Lent begins on March 2d, two weeks from next Wednesday.
—Joe Price's supply of loaves and fishes still holds out.
—Ned Tracy and his minstrel troupe are courted popularity over at Winnemucca.
—Goods for a new store at Pyramid went out to-day. Gamboretti will be proprietor.
—Needham is enlarging his furniture establishment, and putting on a new front.
—Dr. J. G. Leonard, the popular dentist, will be at home next week, and ready for work.
—Trout are running up the river. Some were seen leaping the dam here yesterday, and a few were caught.
—F. M. Rowland, of Sierra Vista, is in town. He says he can show plenty of grasshopper eggs in his neighborhood.
—The remains of Franklin Whitting, of Honey Lake, have been brought to Reno. They will go east to night on the overland.
—A force of carpenters are at work framing the foundation for the new quartz mill. The work is being done under the immediate supervision of Mr. Parker.
—T. F. Laycock, of Reno, is to receive a complimentary benefit at the opening of the new Eureka theater by a local amateur dramatic company some night this week. May he get a rousing benefit.
—A man who registered his name at a local hotel as "Greenwood, of Bodie" stole an overcoat from the front of the White House on Saturday evening. The officers are looking for him.
—Dr. Pritchard has gone back to Loyalton in a handsome new top buggy, made for him by J. L. McFarlin. It is furnished with both pole and shafts, was built to order, and cost $350.
—Fifteen men are at work on the Highland ditch. It was badly washed out at the head by the late freshet. It will take about three weeks to put the ditch in thorough order.
—Reform Club hall was not crowded on Saturday evening, but well-filled. The show in the theatre drew away a few of those who usually attend the feast of reason and the flow of soul at the Club.
—Watchman Ross had some difficulty in Chinatown on Saturday night, and report says that the Chinese drove him out, firing pistol shots at him. The vigilantes were not out, as reported.
—James Duxbury was badly beaten on the head in a low house on Lincoln avenue yesterday morning, by Charles Royce. The arm of the law has so far reached for Royce in vain. Duxbury is laid up with his wounds.

SIGNED THE PLEDGE.

Major Mann's Brilliant Speech on Joining the Reform Club.

Major Mann joined the Reform Club Saturday evening, and in reply to President Cossett's question: "Can't you tell us, Major, how you happened to join?" said: Two of the most agreeable and handsome ladies in the town of Reno persuaded me to join.

This is the first time in my life that I have ever set my hand and seal to a temperance pledge. I intend that it shall be the last time that I shall ever have occasion to. However great may be my sins in other respects, whatever may have been my transgressions against the laws of temperance, I bring to you no broken promises, no violated vows, no prostituted oaths. True it is that if all the intoxicating liquor that I have drank could be gathered together in one vast reservoir, this audience might swim in it; that it would float a seventy-four gun ship of the line, or stock a gin palace for half a decade, but I am going to seek redemption for the past by wooing the angels of temperance and of virtue in the future. Of the great evils of intemperance, there is no one that can appreciate them more keenly than myself. It is the grand promoter of all villainies. It is my observation and experience that nine-tenths of all the crimes that have disgraced mankind, can be traced directly or indirectly to the inordinate use of alcoholic beverages. I have often, in my moods of meditation, wondered how it was, for God's good purposes, that he ever allowed the introduction of wines and liquor among men; how it is that a kind and beneficent government can permit its unrestrained traffic and be a particeps criminis by sharing in the profits of the transaction. How it is that dotting fathers and mothers can allow their children to come in contact with it, and acquire a taste for it. If it be said in answer to the first question that it is useful for medical purposes, my answer is that where it has benefitted one individual, it has sent tens of thousands to untimely graves. If it be said in answer to the second question, that it adds to the conviviality, the pleasures and happiness of life, my answer is, that the enjoyment is but ephemeral, lasting but a few hours at the most, while the reaction is like a thousand years. If it be said in answer to the third question, that parents should accustom their offspring to the ways of life and the world, my answer is in the language of the great English poet:

"Vice is a monster of such frightful mien
That to be hated, needs but to be seen;
But seen too oft, familiar with his face,
We first endure, then pity, then embrace."

Whatever may be the answer to all these complicated questions of temperance and intemperance, I am determined that henceforth and forever, my thirst shall be quenched only by sparkling water; a beverage manufactured by God himself, in a factory the dome of which is the arching skies; its chandeliers by night, the stars of heaven; its store house, the mighty ocean, the rivers, the lakes, and the seas; its agents for rectification and purification, the storms, the lightnings, the whirlwinds and the tempests. Talk about your fine old wines and brandies of the vintage of 1800! I speak of a beverage manufactured 600 years before the birth of Christ; that was gathered together and separated from the earth by the command of Almighty God, before the race of men was known, before Adam was formed out of dust, before Eve was tempted by the serpent, before fig leaves were sewed together for aprons, before the flowers of Eden were planted, equalled only in beauty by the sparkling diamond unchanged and unchangeable. Behold the mighty ocean:

"Time writes no wrinkles on its azure brow,
Such as creation's dawn beheld, thou oldest now."

To the young I would say: touch not the intoxicating cup, "It biteth like a serpent, it stingeth like an adder." It plucks the rose from off the brow of beauty and plants a blister there. It destroys alike both body and soul. It shipwrecks reason and character, like the black magnetic mountain in the Arabian story, under whose irresistible attraction, the iron bolts of the stately ship, securely floating on the distant wave, were one by one sucked out until the whole fell apart, a disjointed wreck. Alas, too often, through the evils of intemperance, those principles that bind a man together as with bolts of iron, which render him staunch, strong and seaworthy, are one by one sucked out, and from the miserable loosened fragments is formed that human anomaly, a reformed drunkard. No such man can be in the full possession of all those faculties with which the Creator endowed him; he must forever feel that he has lost years out of the dearest portion of his life. I am happy in the thought that there is no member of this Club but has turned from his evil ways ere it was too late.

To my brothers old in sin, I would say: Stick to the pledge. If it is not perfect redemption, it is at least a bid for forgiveness, and out of our bankrupt and ruined reputations and characters, we may yet pay 98 cents on the $1. It has been said that intemperance catches the brightest and noblest of mankind. Whatever may be the exception in my own case, I believe there is something of truth in the saying. There is a certain kind of experience about intoxication that cannot be had elsewhere. No man knows his own heart, until he has become thoroughly tipsy by himself; he is, so to speak, homo homo, man with man. If the inebriate possesses a high appreciation of his own character, he owes it to those undisguised moments when he stands revealed to himself. Wine keeps no secrets, and John Smith drunk, appeals to John Smith sober. As in every other transaction in life there is no great loss but what there is some small gain, so we may have gained a little in experience. Then let us be of good cheer. If we have lost something out of the middle of the race, it is yet a long way to the end, and if we cannot run for the prize for which we were originally intended, we may yet win something at the Derbies.

An Assessment.

The trustees of the Jones & Kinkead have found it absolutely necessary to levy an assessment on the stock, to pay bills which could not have been paid off long enough to take the money out of the mine. The winter has been a very bad one for the company. The mill has been hung up a good deal by the hard storms which have made the roads impassable and stopped the ore and wood supply. The trustees have put off the unpleasant duty of assessing the stock as long as they possibly could. The amount that will be raised, with what is coming from the mill ought, with no bad luck, to put the company in good shape. The mill is running nicely and cheaply. Wood, water and good ore are abundant. President Kinkead is on the ground looking after everything himself. George Alt, the Superintendent, is showing the good sense and good judgment that have made him successful in everything he has ever undertaken, and he is showing the mine up grandly. Not a cent is being squandered and things never looked better. The GAZETTE has no interest in deceiving its readers, but on the contrary, if it had any reason to believe there was any wrong being done, it would fight against it. There is no doubt, however, but that the trustees have taken the correct and in fact the only course left open. This will probably be the last "Irish dividend" however, and with a little hang on all will be satisfactory.

Curious Case of Poisoning.

R. H. Lindsey's twelve-months-old boy got hold of a green pasteboard box on Saturday, and chewed it up, swallowing a good deal of the pulp. He was taken sick and vomited freely. Dr. Dawson was sent for and found the child exhibiting marked symptoms of poisoning. Antidotes were administered, and the little fellow is now all right. The doctor analyzed some of the pulp, and found that it contained arsenic in considerable quantity, which formed the coloring matter of the pasteboard.

Mining Stocks.

The feature of this morning's transactions in the Board was the sharp advance in Alta, which was quoted at 1.40 on Saturday, and rose to $2 to-day, with sales of 1970 shares. Ophir sold at 4.80, Mexican 5 1/2, Gould & Curry 3.15, Savage 2 1/2, Hale & Norcross 4 1/2, Sierra Nevada 6 1/2, Utah 8 1/2, Union 7 1/2.

A New Store.

A new paper, stationery and notion store will be opened in Reno on March 1st, by E. A. Allen, formerly of Carson City. Mr. Allen is very well known in Reno. He is a very active man, and will get his share of the old business and create a good deal of new. He will draw on outside communities by supplying goods for which he is the sole agent at wholesale. He is State agent for the McKinnon pen, automatic shading pen, multiplex copying tablets and bazaar patterns, and moves to Reno to be within easy reach of all parts of the State. He will carry reading matter of every description, and will stir up the book worms of Reno with his low prices and fine selections.

Selling Whisky to Indians.

Indians say that the whisky that has made so many of them drunk of late came from the French hotel on Center street. There is a woman in the house who sells it to them. She takes the money and places the liquor in a shed behind the house where the purchaser can get it. It is charged that she entices squaws into the premises, gets them drunk, and keeps them there for a vile purpose. The society known as "601" is likely to look into this.

Which Shall It Be.

The School Trustees of District No. 10 have only sufficient money to run the schools until March 1. The reasons are, 1st. They have been forced to employ three more teachers than ever before. 2nd. It takes more fuel to heat the new school house. 3d. The janitor's fees are larger. They want to know whether they shall levy a tax or close the schools. An election will be held on February 21st to vote on the proposition.

NOTICE.

Said election is called to submit to the qualified voters of said District the question whether a tax shall be raised for the purpose of continuing the schools of said District for the term of four months longer, there being no more money in the fund belonging to said District than will run the schools during the month of February. The amount proposed to be raised is $2,300, including the expenses of an election, etc.

Wrinkled Faces.

It is a painful sight to see young ladies in their teens with wrinkled and prematurely old faces; nevertheless it is quite common, and to any one who observes the tendency of the times the reason is very apparent. Owing to flaming advertisements and bogus certificates, in which are used the names of eminent physicians and chemists, the unsuspecting and credulous have been induced to use some of the so-called liquid beautifiers, all of which are known to be positively injurious, and if used for any length of time will destroy the complexion, so that it will be next to impossible to restore it. Mothers should be very careful to see that their daughters do not use these preparations, but ask for and obtain Slaven's Harmless Yvonne Face Powder, the only harmless beautifier. Fees of Doctors.

The fee of doctors is an item that very many persons are interested in just at present. We believe the schedule for visits is $5, which would tax a man confined to his bed for a year, and in the end of a daily visit, over $1,000 year for medical attendance alone! And one single bottle of Hop Bitters taken in time would save the $1.00, and all the year's sick fees.—Ed

Late Fashions.

In women's underwear there is always something new. The correct thing now is to wear a little petticoat, drawers and waist of blue or pink flannel, trimmed with white lace or embroidered; then a long petticoat of black satin, lined with bright plush. Leggings of canvas, as stiff as tin, are worn to some extent for warmth. Speaking of tin reminds me of the fact that stamped tin ornaments are worn on bonnet-strings at the sides of the face, like guards against kissing. For that purpose, however, they ought to be worn over the mouth. A deacon, as you may remember, fastened a sheet of tin over his wife's mouth for safety, on leaving her at a camp meeting. On returning, he was informed that the Presiding Elder had been seen going into the tent with a can-opener in his hand.

THE BOSS!

Edison Outdone.

Over 150,000 Sold.

Patented April 2, 1878, June 11, 1878, and July 8, 1879.

Boss Coffee, Tea Pots & Urns.

It is the Boss! Why? Because it produces Boss Coffee.

It makes rich flavored Coffee! Why? Because all the aroma and food are retained. It beats them all! Why? Because it saves 100 per cent over boiled Coffee, which is not Coffee, but bitter water. Second—Because it saves 50 per cent over any other method of making Coffee. Third—Because it saves eggs and trouble of clarifying. Fourth—Because it makes Coffee as clear as red wine. Fifth—Because it takes only two minutes to make Boss Coffee.

The Boss works as well on Tea, and saves 25 to 50 per cent.

While Edison may furnish light to millions, the BOSS will assuredly give health to all who use it. Thousands have become dyspeptic and bilious from drinking boiled coffee or surfer tea. Boiled coffee is no coffee, but bitter water reason with a few picotines. Stop drinking boiled coffee. Make your coffee as nature intended, and restore your health. Many inventors have racked their brains to furnish the human family with a practical method of making coffee. At last the weary seeker has been accomplished in the production of very cheap and simple Pots and Urns celebrated as the BOSS.

To Whom It May Concern—After thoroughly testing the BOSS COFFEE POT, we, the undersigned, fully endorse the same as the best method of making coffee we have ever seen. Besides saving eggs, it will save a large per cent. of the coffee. It produces Coffee as clear as wine, which is much stronger, and has a more delicious flavor than any coffee made by any other process.
